ROME, April 21.—Italy's last word to Austria, which is expected to take the form of an ultimatum, is expected to come at any time. The nation is ready for war. Even the pro-Austrian party seems to have lost hope. It is accepted that the government is now marking time until the selected hour arrives. So certain is officialdom that the conflict cannot long be postponed that the Austrian ambassador has wired his brother to prepare his Innsbruck villa for his occupancy.

Senator Carafa declared today that the negotiations between Italy and Austria were at a complete standstill and that he regarded a complete rupture between the two countries as imminent.

Prince Von Bulow, it is said, is ready to leave Italy.

Reports from the general staff say that the frontier is a scene of the greatest activity. Military preparations are feverishly proceeding. Austria has massed enormous numbers of first line troops, diverted from the northern battle front, in the Eisach valley, at Brunnich and at Brunnich. Big aeroplane hangars for aeroplanes and dirigibles have been constructed in the Ronchi valley in such manner that attacks from above will be very hard. In addition the Austrian fleet is reported as displaying the greatest activity at the naval base at Pola.

Complete Bargain With Allies?

Meanwhile the Italian government is understood to have completed an arrangement with the allies regarding the action to be taken on the Adriatic coast and the territorial limitations that may be expected should the war eventually result in a victory for the allies.

It is now up to the Italian government. So far as the army and navy are concerned they are ready to strike at a moment's notice. Troops are concentrated at the strategic positions from which the first hostile movement against Austria must be made. The navy is rendezvoused in readiness to protect the Italian coast cities from any raid by the Austrian fleet at Pola.

Excitement is intense in official circles because of the belief that war is inevitable. Despite this however, Prince von Bulow, the German ambassador, is still working hard to prevent Italy entering the war. It is said to be at his request that Italy has withheld an ultimatum to Austria. He continues to assure the government that Austria will make concessions that will satisfy Italy.

Rumors of Peace Not Sound

Curious rumors of negotiations that might end the war continue to be voiced in certain quarters. But there does not seem to be anything tangible to hang them on. Rather they seem to be public expressions of wishes on the part of those officials who have fought hard to keep Italy out of the war.

Advices from every section of the Austrian frontier tell of feverish war preparations. The Austrian military officials at least do not believe that concessions are to be made to Italy. They are massing their troops and their aeroplanes are reported flying close to Italian territory at a dozen different points. Troop trains are interfering with regular traffic on the main railway lines and great quantities of munitions are being massed ready for use.

Rome Quiet

Rome is quiet, the people seemingly having accepted the belief that war is certain to come, with the result that agitation generally has been abandoned. The vatican is still working for peace, but with little hope of success.

The cabinet will meet tomorrow and at that time it is expected that some definite action will be taken. Meanwhile all steamers are held at their docks except where special permission to sail is granted by the minister of marine.

Convention

Co-operation between the community and the public school, the allowing of credits to school pupils for music lessons taken outside the school room, and a more efficient standardization of the subject of music in the school were points urged in the report of Miss Lillian Watts, Racine, chairman of the committee on credits for public school music of the Wisconsin Music Teachers' association.

The kindergarten room of the La Crosse State Normal school was well filled when the morning session was held.

Music Teachers Elect
Dean Liborius Semmann
of Marquette university, Milwaukee, was today re-elected president of the Wisconsin Music Teachers' association at the closing session of the convention held at the La Crosse State Normal school.

Professor F. A. Parker, Madison, was elected honorary president, and Mrs. Estella Hall Reade, Ripon, vice president.

Others elected to office are Mrs. Georgia Colvin Hyde, Madison, secretary; Mrs. Anna L. Heilman, Merrill, treasurer, and Mrs. Charles E. McLenagan, Milwaukee, auditor.

started, Miss Elizabeth Harding, of Delafield, read a paper on "Voice Culture."

"Music as now taught in the public schools of Wisconsin is being specialized upon too much," said Miss Watts. "We must get to the core of the subject. Before music teachers come to a full realization of their ideals, they must show the communities from which the children come the value of musical training."

"The aimlessness and shiftiness with which the subject is being taught in some of the schools would entirely kill another subject. One great trouble is that the music supervisors do not stay in one school long enough to master the situation. Each teacher should stay in one school a sufficient length of time to realize the plans she had when she started. That every teacher has plans and ideals when she starts, is certain."

Music Uplifts Community
"Musical training of the children has always been found to be a big benefit towards the uplift of the community. The early training of the child secured in the public schools create a much better environment in the neighborhood."

"The music teacher and the music supervisor of the school should co-operate, and the child should be given credits for music work taken outside of school hours. Both the school teacher and the parents should see that the proper time is devoted to lessons. The private teacher should consult with the music supervisor as to the variety of music taught."

Uniform Credits Plan
Miss Watts mapped out a definite schedule of credits which are given for various studies in schools of other states, and asked the music teachers present to adopt the plan in Wisconsin. She urged the music supervisors present to help make the teaching of music more pleasant to the child.

JOHN W. ANDERSON PAID MONEY FOR FORD AUTO STOCK

After Many Years Son of
Dr. Wendell A. Anderson
Explodes Romantic
Yarn Long Current

FIRST INTERVIEW IN LIFE

At Colorado Springs Detroit
Attorney Says Interesting Yarn Has No
Foundation

In an interview in the Colorado Springs "Evening Telegram" John W. Anderson, son of Hon. Wendell A. Anderson of this city, places a popular romance involving his interest in the Ford Automobile company upon the skids, whereupon the incident which has made Mr. Anderson more than a millionaire resolves itself into a plain business transaction.

Mr. Anderson was a visitor in Colorado Springs, where he contemplated establishing a summer home. The interview is interesting in La Crosse for two reasons: It is probably the only interview to which the Detroit attorney has ever submitted, and the fiction which it explodes has gained currency in La Crosse.

In a word, the yarn was bootied about in magazines and newspapers that Mr. Anderson acquired his stock in the Ford company as compensation for drawing the company's incorporation papers, whereas the fact is that, anticipating the success of a company that was to monopolize the genius of Mr. Ford, Mr. Anderson paid $5,000 cash for the stock which originally he acquired, and paid cash for that which later he secured.

The interview follows:
"I invested several thousand dollars in the company and paid the regular price without a bonus of any kind. I just had a glimpse into the future and although there were ups and downs for a few years in the company, I stayed with it and increased my holdings from time to time. There are now seven stockholders in the company and Mr. Ford holds 58 per cent of the stock which has been increased to 20,000 shares of a par value of $100, or $2,000,000. The story that I obtained a block for writing the incorporation papers because the company was too poor to pay for the work went the rounds of press and magazines but it was really nothing more than a very pretty piece of romance."

"The company was incorporated 12 years ago next June 16 and started work in a little shop with Mr. Ford in charge. Mr. Ford was an expert machinist and electrician and as far back as 1893 had been running an automobile which he constructed himself. I believe this machine is still on exhibition at the works of the company which now employs about 15,000 men at the factory alone. We will turn out 300,000 cars this year and are now doing business in all parts of the world as we have factories in England, Canada, Australia and other foreign countries. The Ford company is probably the most remarkable instance of rapid and solid industrial growth in the world. It is owned entirely by seven men and we are a very happy little family. The stock has never been on the open market and if any man wants to sell he is pledged to give the other six stockholders the first chance to buy."

Referring to the war situation, the president said: "The times behind us, gentlemen, have been difficult enough; the times before us are likely to be more difficult. Because, whatever may be said about the present condition of the world affairs, it is clear that they are drawing rapidly to a climax and at the climax the test will come, not only for the nations engaged in the present colossal struggle—but it will come for them of course—but the test will come to us, particularly."

"Do you realize that, roughly speaking, we are the only great nation at present disengaged? I am not speaking, of course, with disparagement of the greater of those nations in Europe which are not parties to the present war, but I am thinking of their close neighborhood to it. I am thinking how their lives, more than ours, touch the very heart and stuff of the business; whereas, we have rolling between us and those bitter days across the water, 3,000 miles of cold and silent ocean. Our atmosphere is not yet charged with those disturbing elements which must be felt and must permeate every nation of Europe."

"Therefore, it is not likely that the nations of the world will some day turn to us, for the cooler assessment of the element engaged?"

"I am not now thinking so preposterous a thought as that we should sit in judgment upon them. No nation is fit to sit in judgment upon any other nation, but that we shall some day have to assist in reconstructing the processes of peace. Our resources are untouched; we are more and more becoming, by the force of circumstances, the mediating nation of the world in respect of its finance. We must make up our minds what are the best things to do and what are the best ways to do them. We must put our money, our energy, our enthusiasm, our sympathies into these things; we must have our judgment prepared and our spirits chastened against the coming of that day. So that I am not speaking in a selfish spirit when I say that our whole duty for the present at any rate, is summed up in this motto:

PHILIPP-TRIBUNE CASE CONTINUED

Pressed by Work of Legislative Session Governor
Requests That Suit
Go Over Term

At the request of the plaintiff the suit in which Gov. Emanuel L. Philipp seeks to recover from THE TRIBUNE $50,000 as alleged damages for the republication of an editorial from La Follette's Weekly, during the autumn campaign, has been continued over the May term of court. The next opportunity to try the issue will be in September. Governor Philipp found the pressing business of the legislative session so great a tax upon his time that he felt obliged to ask for a continuance. Although his attorneys have twice prepared the case for trial THE TRIBUNE felt that the courtesy should be extended to the governor.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Motion picture houses all over the country reaped a golden harvest amounting to $275,000,000 in 1913. Commodore J. ### MAKES STIRRING NEUTRALITY PLEA

Americans' Duty He Declares to Be Preparation to Aid Both Sides
when Time Comes

ALL AMERICANS FIRST OF ALL Asks Co-operation of Coun- try to Preserve Strict Neutrality of the Nation

NEW YORK, April 21.—An abominable libel of ignorance, President Wilson yesterday afternoon characterized suggestions that America would be divided, should it have to enter war at the present. In a stirring address before the members of the Associated Press, the president appealed for real neutrality in this country. This was the duty of America, the president said, to think of America before Europe. The test of neutrality, he said, was not to be sympathetic with one side or the other, but to get ready to aid both sides when the time arrived.

Denounces Turtle Bay Story

The president also denounced publication of false reports, such as the recent Turtle Bay story of Japanese activities on the Mexican coast, which he said could not be defended. The president's speech was a direct appeal for co-operation by all Americans in all parts of the country to remain strictly neutral and he declared that all of our people should remember they were Americans first of all. The president asserted that he had no petty desire to keep out of trouble, merely to avoid difficulties. He insisted that if he should meet one who wished a scrap and he thought the scrap was worth while, that the trouble seeker would find him his man, but he declared he was not interested in neutrality, that it gave this nation the distinction of self-mastery.

The President spoke in part as follows:

"I am deeply gratified by the generous reception you have accorded me. It makes me look back with a touch of regret to former occasions when I have stood in this place and enjoyed a greater liberty than is granted me today. There have been times when I stood in this spot and said what I really thought and I pray God that these days of indulgence may be accorded again; but I have come here today, of course, somewhat restrained by a sense of responsibility that I cannot escape."

Test Coming to U. S.

Referring to the war situation, the president said: "The times behind us, gentlemen, have been difficult enough; the times before us are likely to be more difficult. Because, whatever may be said about the present condition of the world affairs, it is clear that they are drawing rapidly to a climax and at the climax the test will come, not only for the nations engaged in the present colossal struggle—but it will come for them of course—but the test will come to us, particularly."

BUREAU IS FORMED TO HUNT UP JOBS FOR HIGH 'PUPILS'

Co-operate to Find Work for Those Who Seek Employment

BUSINESS MEN CAN HELP

Boys and Girls Can Continue Education if They Get Positions in Summer Months

An employment bureau for high school students is being organized at the high school by some of the alumni and high school students for the purpose of securing work for high school students for the summer months, and after school. Mr. McCormick is co-operating in the work. As yet no permanent organization has been made, and the success or failure of the plan depends upon the interest and support of the students and the co-operation of business men in the city. An organization of the sort is much needed at the school as there are many who would like to work after school and Saturdays if only an opportunity were given to secure a position. The establishment of a successful agency will enable many to remain in school who otherwise would have to drop out on account of the expenses attached.

As preliminary practice for the league declamatory contest which is to be held at Viroqua Friday evening, Dora Hirschheimer and Nora Larson this morning gave the selections which they will use before the general assembly at the school. Both girls were loudly applauded by the students. Dora Hirschheimer recited "The Lie" and Nora Larson spoke "The Swan Song."

The boys who represent La Crosse at the league oratorical contest at Sparta Friday are William Walker, Alex Feinberg and George MacLachlan.

Reports for last week show that the attendance at the high school has been the best in years. Wednesday last there were but seventeen pupils out of classes while hursday only sixteen were absent.

Out of a total of 911 students now enrolled at the high this makes a percentage of but 1.6 per cent of absentees which is really marvelous. The self-government system now in use at the school is responsible for much of the success as in years past many more have been "skipping" while now, being on their honor, much less of the sort goes on.

LINDLEY LAW IS INVOKED AGAINST TWO BIG HOTELS

Milwaukee District Attorney Would Close the Davidson and Fountain
Inn

MILWAUKEE, April 21.—District Attorney Zabel began proceedings under the Lindley law this afternoon to close the Davidson hotel and the Fountain Inn, two of the largest hostleries in the city. Both of the places are managed by Fred L. Herwig, now under indictment in the circuit court on a statutory charge.

The action is the most sweeping ever started in the state. Upon the affidavits of several girls, Zabel obtained from Judge Fritz an order to show cause why the defendants should not be ordered to close the hotel and cafe. The defendants named are: Fred L. Herwig, Sam A. Toleman, Bessie Toleman, Nat Stone, and Gimbel Brothers. Judge Fritz set the hearing for May 1.

The first affidavit obtained by Zabel was that of Marie Obermeyer, a cabaret entertainer. She names a woman guest at the Davidson and alleges that the woman told her of having improper relations with men in the hotel.

Allegations of a similar nature are made by Margaret Beck.

Anna L. May in her affidavit alleges she made inquiries at various wineroms and saloons as to where she might go to "catch the live ones," and she alleges that barkeepers and waiters told her that the best place was the Fountain Inn. Miss May stated further that she was informed that a maid pays Herwig $10 a month for the privilege of keeping a stand in the women's lavatory, where cigarettes, rouge and similar articles are sold. She alleged that girls visit here and relate their experiences with men, smoking cigarettes the while. The affidavit of Josephine Groh is similar to that of Miss May.

Peter Muenzenberger, for many years alderman of the Twenty-first ward, is forty-three years old today and happy.

Muenzenberger was born on St. Joseph's Ridge in this county, April 21, 1872, of German parentage. He obtained his education in the day and night schools here, alternating between work on his father's farm. At the age of twenty he engaged in the trade of carpentry.

Mr. Muenzenberger was for a time a member of the Blashek orchestra, and is a charter member of the Luxemburger Aid society. Muenzenberger was beaten in his ward in the last election by F. J. Mashek, but this does not detract from his smile today.

Matter May Be Serious

CHAOS EXISTS IN THE INTERIOR

Villa Reported Preparing to Entrench at Aguas
Calientes to Resist
Obregon

WASHINGTON, April 22.—War Secretary Garrison this afternoon received from Gen. Funston a report concerning the firing by Mexicans on a United States army aeroplane near Brownsville.

The secretary said he would not make it public for twelve hours, but refused to explain the delay.

Despite optimistic accounts of the incident from Brownsville, this action on his part was generally interpreted as indicating that the affair was very serious.

Chaos in interior Mexico was indicated by state department advices today.

Prospects seemed to be that General Villa would entrench at Aguascalientes and resist attempts to drive him farther north. Obregon showed no disposition to follow up his Celaya victory. At the Villa junta here it was said this was because he himself suffered shattering losses.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., April 22.—American military authorities here inclined today to take as ample the apology and explanation tendered to Colonel Blockson for Mexican firing from Matamoros upon a United States army aeroplane late yesterday. The matter, however, was reported to Washington. The explanation said Mexicans, under an intoxicated officer, did the shooting, having had instructions to fire on any aircraft.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Secretary Bryan today announced that this afternoon he will hand to German Ambassador Bernstorff an answer to the latter's note of April 5, in which the United States government was practically accused of violating neutrality in permitting arms exportation to the allies.

Eight hundred dollars a front foot, an unprecedented price for La Crosse downtown real estate, was recorded today when the Linker Realty company, a corporation, purchased from J. L. Stirneman, Winona, the property known as the Stirneman block in Main street, abutting the alley between Third and Fourth streets. The property has a frontage of 25 feet on the south side of Main street and is 110 feet deep. It was sold for $20,000.

Linker Brothers' barber shop and baths will occupy the entire structure after it has been remodeled. It will be equipped with Turkish and all modern baths and the upper floor will be converted into rest rooms and a men's hotel.

To Occupy Whole Building

"We had to get out of our present quarters to make room for the new home of the Five and Ten Cent store," said Mr. Linker. "Our business had outgrown our quarters also, so this will give us more room. We will occupy the whole building and it will be entirely remodeled for us."

"On the first floor will be located the barber shop which will be as modern and up-to-date as any in the state. Then our baths can be placed in the basement with rest rooms on the second floor."

The Lyric theater which has occupied the lower floor of the structure for a number of years, will be forced to vacate soon to make room for the carpenters who will make the alterations. Manual Rosenstein of the Lyric was out of the city today.

Lyric Has to Go Too

Harry Burford, manager of the theater asserted he had not been informed of negotiations for the sale and did not know whether the Lyric would be forced to move. He said the management had been ignorant of the sale and had made no preparations to vacate. George Linker declared the new owners would likely claim possession of the building some time in August in order to complete their alterations before they were forced out of their own building.

A. Munson, merchant tailor, occupies the upper floor and will also have to vacate at about the same time.

The negotiations between Mr. Stirneman and Messrs. Linker were conducted by S. W. Anderson, who filed papers in the case with the registrar of deeds this afternoon.

Weather Conditions

It is raining this morning from Missouri to eastern Tennessee and Indiana, in California, and at Yellowstone, and snowing at Edmonton. Elsewhere the weather is fair. It is cooler in the north Atlantic states and warmer in the Dakotas and adjacent Canadian territory. The pressure is high from the upper lakes to the north Atlantic coast and low in the Rocky mountain districts.

These pressure conditions indicate generally fair weather in this section tonight and Thursday with moderate temperature.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

BEAUTIFYING BARBARA

BY JANE OSBORN

Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"Go out and get a live wire story about this beauty specialist," the city editor had told Barbara Mills a few weeks after she went to work on her first morning paper. "This Madame Rosa has some of the most prominent society women in town as her clients. There has been a lot of talk about the beautifying processes they are going through, and what you want to do is to go there for treatment. Keep your eyes and ears open and get all the names you can. If you can find out that some one of the big leaders in society has enamel on her face—that is real news."

With these instructions Barbara started out on the busy thoroughfare toward the middle of the spring afternoon. And, as she slipped along through the crowd, quietly dressed in her inconspicuous street frock, no one stopped to notice her. Barbara was pretty, but of that demure prettiness that could go unnoticed in such a throng as that.

Perhaps that was why when she passed Ned Stanton he did not see her; she was swallowed up in that crowd of fashionably dressed women. Surely had Ned known that Barbara was near he would have forgotten the others for, to Ned, Barbara was the ideal of feminine loveliness. Her demureness, her pallor even, signified all that was sweet and lovely in women. Ned had never told Barbara of this state of mind of his. In fact, he hardly admitted it to himself. But every time he saw her as she passed through the editorial rooms of the paper, met her by chance as she passed in the hall, he felt the task of hiding his love from her growing more difficult.

Barbara saw Ned. She even paused a moment with a longing, not admitted even to herself, that he would see her, that he would pause and perhaps turn and walk with her as far as Mme. Rosa's. But that was all.

"What can we do for madame?" came the silver tones of the young French woman at the door of Mme. Rosa's, and Barbara had hesitated for a second. "Perhaps a manicure."

She said, drawing off a glove from one hand, just a little rough and worn from constant toiling over papers and the typewriter.

A half hour later Barbara emerged

FARMER'S WIFE TOO ILL TO WORK

A Weak, Nervous Sufferer Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Kasota, Minn.—"I am glad to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than anything else, and I had the best physician here. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and suffered with pains low down in my right side for a year or more. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I feel like a different person. I believe there is nothing like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weak women and young girls, and I would be glad if I could influence anyone to try the medicine, for I know it will do all and much more than it is claimed to do."—Mrs. CLARA FRANKS, R. F. D. No. 1, Maplecrest Farm, Kasota, Minn.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

from the sanctum with hands that would have graced a young duchess. But she had not noticed them. She had not even watched the deft-fingered attendant during the process. She was listening keenly to a conversation over a partition.

"Will you have the usual treatment?" some one was asking in tones of great deference. A haughty voice had answered: "Put a little more color in the enamel, please. I am wearing green this evening and that requires a great deal of color. And the lights are so trying at Mrs. Vanderhayden's."

Barbara recognized the name of one of the most exclusive hostesses of the season—a hostess of the younger smart set, just the set that the city editor would be interested in. If only Barbara could get the name of the woman in the next room. She listened to the conversation. Apparently the treatment was long and tedious. It was her cue to get into one of the compartments nearer. She must find out in some way who was speaking.

"Do they just do enameling in those booths?" Barbara asked with a wave of one transformed hand in the direction of the booth in question?

"Just facial treatment," said the manicurist. "You'd hardly need enamel, though there is a great deal could be done to your face. One of our ice treatments and a transformation would work wonders." In another minute Barbara had placed herself in the hands of a specialist in facial beauty. But the girl did not notice her face in the mirror before her. She paid strict attention to every move of the attendant. She was interested in the treatment. It would be good data for the story. And she listened to the conversation across the partition. She heard the name of the woman. She was prominent, a recent divorcee, just the sort of name that would make the city editor rejoice.

Meaning the beauty specialist worked with enthusiasm. Barbara was so young, her features were so fresh and her skin was so unspotted by previous treatment that she was a subject in which to gain big results. "Just a touch of purple under the eyes?" she asked, and Barbara being all ears to the conversation in the next room, nodded her approval.

"I am using this new peachblow for the cheeks," said the attendant. "It costs a trifle more, but you don't object?" Barbara, still intent on the next room's conversation, taking mental notes all the time, forgot that it was her cheeks that were undergoing the transformation.

Once out on the street Barbara was hurrying with all impatience back to the office where she might write the story that she had gathered and turn it into the city editor. She had had good results, and there was a thrill of pleasure in the thought that no mere man on the paper could have secured the story, because mere men never passed the threshold of Mme. Rosa's.

Suddenly Barbara was stopped by a hand laid on her arm. It was Ned Stanton.

"Barbara—Miss Mills!" he said, and there was reproach in every accent. "For heaven's sake—" and paused.

Barbara spoke a word of greeting, and then for the first time she was conscious of the fact that she was being noticed; that now, in the semi-darkness, on the busy thoroughfare, she had been attracting the glances of the men and women as they hurried past.

"I am going down to the office," Ned told her, "and I may as well go with you."

As they walked and talked Barbara for the time being forgot the excitement of her successful assignment. All she felt was the joy of being with Ned. Once or twice he was dangerously near the telling. Barbara felt it, and she was disappointed when the office building appeared

"AGGIES" DEFEATED BY TREMPPEALEAU

William Towner Sustains Broken Arm in Kick from Cow; Cornet Band Organize and Rehearse

TREMPPEALEAU, Wis., April 21.—(Special.)—Trempealeau high school baseball team defeated the Onalaska "Aggies" here Friday by a score of fourteen to two. None of the visiting team passed second base until the second inning.

Arm Broken by Kick
For some reason "Bossy" did not want to be milked on Saturday night, but William Towner, her owner was of a different mind. Whether or not "Bossy" is a descendant of Mrs. O'Leary's cow is not known, but she kicked over the milk pail and broke Mr. Towner's arm. Mr. Towner is laid up.

Cornet Band Organized
The Trempealeau Cornet band is fully organized and held its first rehearsal Tuesday night.

in sight and still Ned had not told her. Then, summoning all his courage, he grasped her arm in the semi-darkness.

"For heaven's sake, Barbara, what has happened? When did you change like this, and why did you do it? You were everything to me—just as you were. I loved you because you were different from the rest—from the average city woman with her powder and paint and her lip sticks. And now—Barbara, no one could be deceived. There is enough powder to free Ireland and enough paint to paint a battleship. I loved you as you were, Barbara, tell me what has happened."

Barbara gave a little cry of surprise and put her two gloved hands up to hide her face. "I didn't realize it was my face," she said pitifully. "I was so interested. All I thought was about the story—until I met you, and then I forgot everything."

Had Tuberculosis of Glands—Now Well

Glandular Tuberculosis has yielded to Eckman's Alternative when other remedies failed. Read what it did in this case:

257 Lauriston St., Philadelphia, Pa. "Gentlemen:—In March, 1909, my doctor pronounced my case 'Tuberculosis in the Glands,' and a number of operations in a hospital failed to benefit me. In the meantime a friend of mine advised Eckman's Alternative. The wounds in my neck were still open and in a frightful condition when I started to take it. After using two bottles I found I was improving, having gained weight, could eat and was able to sleep. I continued using it until I was well. On November 11, 1910, I started to work, and since that time have not lost one day's work through sickness. I highly recommend Eckman's Alternative to any one who is suffering from Tuberculosis." ## SPOTLIGHTS

LA CROSSE PLAYERS

"The Princess of Patches" was the offering at the La Crosse theater again yesterday afternoon and evening, and will be the offering tonight. On Thursday afternoon the La Crosse Theater Players will give an "egg matinee" for the benefit of the City Mission. The price of admission for the matinee is one egg and five cents.

A THRILLING EXPERIENCE

It was a daring undertaking—this idea of placing a motion picture camera within a few feet of the biggest guns of our latest super-dreadnaughts as a "salvo" or broadside of ponderous shells was to be hurled for miles and miles. In order to make his camera "rock steady," as he thought, against the shock and air suction of this battle practice, the photographer braced his camera very carefully. But he forgot to take the same precaution as to himself until the gun crew told him a thing or two. At the outset he did not fully understand why. He did after the first salvo was fired.

It proved to be a harrowing experience for him as the concussion threw him off his feet with such force as to render him unconscious for a long time. He was confined in the hospital for two weeks—a nervous wreck. He is still hard of hearing and may never recover fully; but the picture he secured are a triumph. Naturally they are spectacular. The scenes were presented at the La Crosse theater Friday and Saturday with a Saturday matinee by Lyman H. Howe, by the authority of the secretary of the navy, Mr. Joseph Daniels.

Optimistic Thought.
Good management is better than a good income.

"Fifty girl aesthetes go west to dance lightly clad at dawn," says a headline. Evidently they are going to give the "blushing dawn" something to blush for.A REASSURING BEGINNINGUpon his inaugural day Mayor A.
A. Bentley made a good start. His address to the council created interest and enhanced confidence. His re-appointment of Mr. L. F. Easton
as a member of the park commission,
although it was a step too obvious
to give hearing to an alternative, must be placed to his credit in the column of sound administration.
While we would have suggested a few changes, his selection of council committees is good, albeit a few things are wanting in it to effectuate
a beginning of his plan to harmonize the city forces.Quite immediately two vastly important appointments must be made by the new mayor: a member of the fire and police commission, and a city engineer. The former appointment will have a bearing upon the mayor's plan to create harmony in the city hall, and it should provide a means of stemming off some scum that has come to the surface of the boiling pot of trouble that has stewed and steamed in the police department. The latter is purely a matter of efficiency, and the problem of getting the greatest degree of real engineering proficiency out of $1,500 a year is not as simple as 2 plus 2.Later, the selection of the harbor terminal board will require discrimination, and in so far as the mayor shall influence it the choice is a task of responsibility.Proceeding upon the basis of what has been done, it is fair to presumethat Mayor Bentley will successfully negotiate the difficult duties imposed by these requirements, and for the present it safely may be said that the new executive holds forth promise and hope to the city of La Crosse.TO EVERY MAN
HIS OWN FLIESSome experimenters in a big city conducted an investigation to determine the range of the average house fly. They caught several hundred flies and marked them so that they could be easily recognized. Then they turned them loose.Records were kept of the distances at which the marked flies were discovered from the place where they had been set free. Not one was discovered more than a block away from the starting point. From this the investigators deduced that a fly, except he be blown from his ordinary haunts by a strong wind, never wanders over a territory larger than a block in diameter.Similar experiments have been carried out with mosquitoes. Their range has been estimated at 600 yards.These conclusions give a sharply local interest to activities in the clean up and paint up campaign which is in progress in La Crosse. The reflection that all of some other neighborhood's flies and skeeters will come calling regardless of your own and your neighbors' efforts to make their life a homeless one might be accepted as an excuse for half-hearted participation in the spring renovating.
But it is not true. If only you and your immediate neighbors clean thoroughly, there will be marked diminution in the amount of swatting energy you will be called upon to furnish this summer, on the testimony of men who know.

The moral is obvious.

"THE KING IS DEAD!
LONG LIVE THE KING!"

Bent!

The gavel fell. There was a stir
among the aldermen."Adjourned!" said Mayor Ori J.
Sorenson.In the next moment it was ex-Mayor Sorenson who, nodding gravely to the council, thrust his hands in his breeches pockets and, alone,
walked silently from the city hall.

What was in his mind?

Some regrets for mistakes, perhaps; mayhap a feeling of rebellion against political injustice. But, in the main, the peace of reflections inspired by a good conscience.
Behind him was a gala scene. A.
A. Bentley faced his new responsibilities. There were a great floral offering, a complimentary photograph enlarged for the occasion, enthusiastic friendships and admiring women. This man, highly endorsed, fresh with hope and purpose, unscar-
red by the perplexities and bitterness of the road ahead, presented a striking contrast with the task-worn man who had just gaveled himself out of office. New ideals, new gods—new as the Spring that environed them—gave inspiration."The king is dead! Long live the king!"The music teachers are discussing action to prevent teaching by those who are not proficient. The office pessimist, who rooms next to a man who toots a cornet, says they would prevent more murders if they would take action to prevent playing by

In War Time

Now strikes the hour upon the clock,
The black sheep may rebuild the years;
May lift the father's pride he broke,
And wipe away his mother's tears.To him, the mark for thrifty scorn, God hath another chance to give,
Sets in his heart a flame new-born
By which his muddled soul may live.This is the day of the prodigal,
The decent people's shame and grief;
When he shall make amends for all,
The way to glory's bloody and brief.Clean from his baptism of blood,
New from the fire he springs
again,
In shining armor, bright and good,
Beyond the wise-keeping men.Somewhere tonight—no tears be shed!
With shaking hands they turn the
sheet,
To find his name among the dead,
Flower of the Army and the Fleet.They tell with proud and stricken face
Of his white boyhood far away—
Who talked of trouble or disgrace?
"Our splendid son is dead!" they say.

Review.

Misinterpreted

An elderly farmer drove into town one day and hitched his team
to a telegraph post.
"Here," exclaimed the burly policeman, "you can't hitch there."
"Can't, eh?" shouted the irate farmer. "Well, why have you got a sign up 'Fine for Hitching'?"

A Lively Place

First Roomer—You fellows have no gilt-up about you at all. Why don't you have photographs of your town taken, like we did? Are you ashamed of it?Rival Roomer—Now, that ain't the reason at all. I want you to understand, young fellow, that our town don't stand still long enough to be photographed.—Terre Haute Express.

Satisfaction

"Why do you feed every tramp who comes along? They never do any work for you.""No," said the wife, "but it is quite a satisfaction to me to see a man eat a meal without finding fault
with the cooking."

A Repeater

In St. Louis there is one ward that is full of breweries and Germans. In a recent election a local option question was up. After the election some Germans were counting the votes.
One German was calling off and another taking down the option votes.
The first German, running rapidly through the ballots, said: "Vet, vet,SKIN TROUBLE

it when he got home. "Well," he said, "one rather odd thing occur-

AVOID SPRING ILLS

Purify and Build Up the Blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla.
In the spring your blood needs cleansing and enriching. You feel poorly, and there is more or less eruption on your face and body.
Your appetite is not good, your sleep is broken, and you are tired all the time.

You need Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the one safe and effective tonic that has stood the test of forty years. It makes the pure red blood that will make you feel better, look better, eat and sleep better. It is the old standard tried and true an-
the-year-round medicine for the blood and the whole system.
Ask any druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla, and insist on having it.
Nothing else acts like it, for nothing else has the same formula or ingredients, and so there is no real substitute. Get it today.

YOUNG CHURCH MEN TO BOWL AND PRAY IN VIROQUA CHURCH

Congregational Church Establishes Recreation Room
in Basement to Draw the Young People to Place

VIROQUA, Wis., April 21.—(Special.)—That bowling alleys and shuffle boards are more positive means of bringing the younger generation of Viroqua to church than hymns and prayer, is the belief of the Christian Endeavor society of the Viroqua Congregational church.

A bowling alley, shuffle boards and other games were recently installed in a large room in the basement of the edifice, and thrown open to members of the society and their friends who may congregate there at certain hours of the day and evening. Already many who were not members have taken advantage of the opportunity, and it is the hope that many more will be brought to church
in this way.

The "recreation" room, as it has been termed by the society, may be entered by a door not connecting with the other departments of the church.
This is the first idea of its kind ever carried to a realization here.

YOU'LL GET RID OF BLACKHEADS SURE

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.
To do this get about two ounces of plain powdered norexin from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores, and do not get the blackheads out after they become hard. The powdered norexin and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with those unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

BRITISH TO BACK U.S. IN INSISTANCE ON "OPEN DOOR"

Sir Edward Grey So De-

Comment

LONDON, April 21.—Preservation of the common interests of all the powers in China by the insurance of the independence and the integrity of the Chinese republic and the principle of equal opportunities for the commerce and industry of all nations in China, was described by Sir Edward Grey, foreign secretary, to be the policy of the British government in China. He addressed the house of commons, declaring for an open door policy.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Secretary Bryan was silent today concerning Sir Edward Grey's declaration in the British house of commons for the Chinese "open door." That the Japanese-Chinese situation has been most trying to the administration was common knowledge, however,
so it was believed the British foreign secretary's assurance was highly gratifying.

BRITISH DEFEAT MOSLEMS IN BATTLE AT HAFIZKOR

Simla Dispatch Says Afghanistan Officials Succeeded in Keeping Afghan Mussulmans Out of Fight

SIMLA, April 21.—An official report of fighting at Hafizkor, northwest of Shabkadd, says that the attacking Moslems were defeated, with a loss of 150 killed and wounded.
The most significant factor was the success of the Afghan officials in restraining the Afghan Mohammedans from participating.

The statement says that the enemy, numbering 4,000 men, attacked the British patrols and that the latter were able to maintain all of their positions until the end of the fight.

STOMACH SOUR? STOP INDIGESTION, GAS, HEARTBURN—PAPE'S DIAEPSIN

Don't suffer! Regulate your upset stomach in five minutes.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr.
and Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down:
Pape's Diaepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset
you. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered, you get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear. Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. Diaepsin is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as Pape's Diaepsin comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.
Put an end to stomach trouble
by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diaepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

Item Welcomed By Many Men

This recipe can be filled at home, so that no one need know of another's troubles, as the ingredients can be obtained separately at any well stocked drug store. They are in regular use and many different prescriptions are constantly being filled with them.

This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, gloomy, despondent, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing, and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do, because the treatment can be prepared secretly at home and taken without any one's knowledge.

Overworked office men and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will, it is said, find the restorative they are in need of.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cadomom), mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring.

A certain well-known medical expert asserts that thousands of men and many women are suffering all because of dormant circulation of the blood and a consequential impairment of the nervous force, which begets the most dreadful symptoms and untold misery.

SHATTUCK SHOWS GREAT TECHNIQUE

Playing Is Marvelous for Clearness and Beautiful

Tone Says Isidor
Tippmann

(By Isidor Tippmann.)

Arthur Shattuck, piano virtuoso, played a recital at normal hall last evening before an audience that should have been much larger. However, quality made up for quantity and those present enjoyed the event highly. Mr. Shattuck is a pianist of many excellent qualities, chief among which is a truly magnificent technical equipment. His tours de force are marvels of clearness and his runs even in the most speedy tone successions are never blurred in the least. Everything is transparent and clean cut. This was particularly in evidence in the Bach-Liszt "Fantasie and Fugue," in the F major "Scherzo," by D'Albert and Liszt's "St. Francis Walking on the Waves." A "Mazurka" in D major by Chopin and a "Humoresque" and "Gobelin" by Simling also found particular favor with the audience.

There are no dull moments in Mr. Shattuck's playing and his tone reveals a temperament which is always noble and never common or rude. He wins an audience at the start by the charm of his fine personality and the unaffected sincerity with which he charms his auditors. It was surely a great pleasure for everybody present to make the acquaintance of so excellent a pianist as Mr. Arthur Shattuck. A fine Steinway Grand piano was an excellent medium for Mr. Shattuck's art.

BERLIN REPORTS GERMAN VICTORY IN EAST AFRICA

BERLIN, via Wireless to London, April 21.—German troops have routed the British forces at Jassini, East Africa, according to a semi-official announcement made public today.

The battle lasted two days and the British losses will exceed 700. The Germans captured two companies and large quantities of ammunition and stores. The German losses were seven officers killed and fourteen of officers and twenty-two men wounded.

DANGEROUS DEBILITY

Debility may result from a number of causes, worry, after-effects of acute illness, lack of nourishment due to disordered digestion, or anything that makes the blood thin, thereby preventing it from carrying health and nourishment to the tissues of the body.

The symptoms of debility vary but weakness is always present, often a tendency to fatigue easily, ringing in the ears, black spots passing before the eyes, weak back, dizziness, wakefulness caused by inability to stop thinking, and unrefreshing sleep.

Debility is dangerous because it weakens the body's defence against disease. For instance, debilitated people take cold easily and winter is always a trying time for them. When one cold follows another the system surely needs building up.

The treatment of such run-down conditions with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is based on sound medical principles and common sense. The pills build up the blood so that it nourishes every part of the body, nerves as well as muscles and brings vigor, strength and health.

Mention this paper and we will mail you the booklet "Building Up the Blood." Address: Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Daddy's Bedtime

The Hen That Mothered the Little Ducks.

ONCE there was the nicest old mother hen you ever heard of," began daddy. "She sat on her eggs to hatch out her funny little chickens, and when she had her children around her in the coop she was a very happy old hen."

"And when they would run away from her she would get very much scared indeed, and when she saw a big hawk way up in the sky she would be more frightened still, and she would call her fluffy little darlings back to her with very loud squawks, and when they heard the old mother hen cackling in that way they would just come a-kiting, for they knew there was danger somewhere."

"It was a pretty sight to see this old hen gather her downy chickens under her wings so they could sleep and rest there and be secure from all danger and very happy."

"But one season the man who owned her played the funniest trick on the old hen. He had to do it, though. You see, there was an old bad mother duck who would not set on her eggs, so the farmer who owned both the hen and the duck took the two duck eggs and put them under the old mother hen, and in the course of time that old hen had a little family of four chickens and two downy ducks."

"The fluffy chickens and the downy ducks looked quite different, you may be sure, for the ducks had broad bills where the chickens had centy-tenny ones, and the ducks had webbed feet where the chickens had toes. And the old mother hen acted kind of funny at first, but a hen does not know as much as a person, so she accepted the ducks as part of her family, and the two ducks and the four chickens got along just beautifully together. They were mothered all alike by the old mother hen, and the little ducklings crept under her wings with the chickens and loved her, I suppose, as much as chickens or ducklings ever do love their mamma."

"But one day the owner of the ducks and chickens heard the old mother hen cackling real loud down by the little pond in the garden, and he ran down there, and he laughed and laughed."

"There was the old mother hen cackling and taking on awfully. And why? Because her two foster ducklings had found the water and were swimming about in it. And the poor old mother hen, not knowing any better, was so awfully worried for fear they would be drowned."

"But now you must go to bed, kiddies."

"Good night, daddy."

T. R. BARES OLD POLITICAL FIGHTS

Tells How Barnes Killed Race Track Bill Through Co-operation with Tammany

PICTURES BARNES AS OMNIPOTENT

Describes How He Fought Hughes' Renomination and Direct Primary Bill

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 21.—William Barnes—political boss, dominant and all powerful.

This was the character portrayal made of the republican leader today by Colonel Roosevelt.

How Barnes' grip on the republican machine was inherited from Senator Platt, strengthened and used, was recounted by the former governor and president.

Resuming his testimony in defense of Barnes' libel suit, Roosevelt recited conversations and produced letters picturing Barnes as the omnipotent republican boss in New York state. He told how Barnes worked with Tammany democrats to defeat legislation at Albany.

Barnes sat unmoved during Roosevelt's onslaught which dug deep into past political scandals. At times he and the colonel faced each other, but seemingly without directly meeting glances.

Roosevelt told how Barnes fought Governor Hughes' renomination and his direct primary legislation. The colonel said Barnes told him that they, the organization, had control of the legislature and would do what they pleased.

The colonel said Barnes bitterly opposed Hughes' renomination and said the machine wouldn't "tolerate" it.

Called Bosses Necessary

How Barnes upheld "necessity of bosses in party government," was ridiculed by Roosevelt. He introduced a letter from Barnes saying: "The idea of getting rid of bosses is absurd so long as we have party organization. The people do the electing, but the party should be free to frame up their proposals to the people in their own way." Roosevelt said Barnes bitterly opposed the direct primary plan, writing: "If the direct nomination plan is ever adopted it will lead to untold evils and place in office the cheapest kind of legislators."

Roosevelt said he was told by several senators that Barnes killed the Agnew-Hart anti race-track bill by a coalition with Tammany Hall democrats, forcing Senator Grattan of Albany to change his vote. This was the most direct testimony yet given, showing a working agreement between republican and democratic machines at Albany in support of Roosevelt's charges of an "alliance of crooked politics."

Rules Out Much of Defense

At the beginning of today's session Roosevelt met with a severe reverse when Justice Andrews ruled out much evidence planned by the colonel. He said the colonel's defense must be limited solely to matters of justification of alleged libel specifically pleaded in Roosevelt's answer to the libel suit. But he said Roosevelt might prove that he had no malice in making the charges against Barnes.

JUDGE HUNT FEELS LIKE SUNNY JIM AND LETS MEN GO

Judge Clinton W. Hunt who took his bench and presided in three cases in police court this morning, was not going to start out on his judicial career with sending minor offenders to jail. He felt pretty good when he took charge of his court this morning and had partaken of both a good breakfast and a fine cigar.

Then came before him the first two misdoers of his day. Charles Johnson and Jeff Capps were haled in by stalwart policemen and readily admitted that they had been drunk. They made no denial, but only said, "Morning, Judge—guilty" as their names were called.

The judge smiled and let them go. They didn't know it was his opening day and departed wonderingly.

Henry Trick of Onalaska was the next in line and he "got it." Trick was riding a motorcycle too fast and had no license number, besides. He paid $7.50.

C. F. & I. LAWYERS HELP STATE TRY LEADER OF STRIKE

John R. Lawson Goes to Trial in Trinidad Today for Alleged Murder

ATTORNEY GENERAL PROSECUTOR

Rockefeller Attorneys Help Prosecute Labor Leader in Rockefeller's Town

TRINIDAD, Cal., April 21.—The stage was set here today for the greatest labor trial in the United States since the ironworkers' dynamite conspiracy cases.

John R. Lawson, international executive board member of the United Mine Workers, was placed on trial in Judge Grandby Hiller's court for the murder of John Nimmo, in October, 1913, during a coal strike riot. Attorney General Fred Farrar of Colorado is in charge of prosecution at the request of Gov. Carlson. Fuel company lawyers are assisting. Trinidad is under the control of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, the Rockefeller concern, according to testimony given at the federal industrial committees hearing.

"The Wonder Car"

Only a Blindfolded man would buy an automobile today without looking the Maxwell over

There's no excuse today for any man who is "jollied" into buying a car before he looks over the 1915 Maxwell.

We give you the two vital things in this Maxwell Car and then the 17 new features that have made the 1915 Maxwell the most talked-about car ever produced.

Here are the two vital things that any sane man wants when he buys an automobile

In the first place

—a handsome, real automobile that he can be proud to ride in.

In the second place

—a powerful, fast, economical automobile that will take him anywhere and bring him back.

We give you these two vital things, and then just about every other detail of refinement, comfort and endurance that you can think of.

Take power and hill-climbing ability, for example—when you buy a 1915 Maxwell you buy an exact duplicate of the stock Maxwell cars in which "Wild Bill" Turner and "Billy" Carson broke two World's Records in two of the toughest, roughest mountain hill-climbs ever made—Mt. Hamilton and Mt. Wilson.

Take speed and endurance, for example—when you buy a Maxwell you buy a car made by the same designers—the same chief engineer—from the same Maxwell Laboratory, heat-treated, tested steel, that was used in the Maxwell Racers in which Barney Oldfield and "Billy" Carson both broke the 300-mile non-stop race records in Corona and San Diego.

Read This List of Expensive Features. The 1915 Maxwell Has These Features And Many Others.

Attractive Streamline Body

Pure streamline body; graceful crown fenders, with all rivets concealed. All the grace, style and "snap" that you will find in any of the highest priced cars.

A High-Tension Magneto

Nearly all the high priced cars have high tension magnetos. A high tension magneto gives positive ignition. The Simms magneto, with which the Maxwell is equipped, is recognized as one of the best magnetos made.

Left Side Drive—Central Control

Left side steer with gear shifting levers in center of driving compartment—center control—has been accepted by leading makers of expensive automobiles as the safest and most comfortable for the driver; that is why the Maxwell has it. The Maxwell is so easy to drive and control that a child can handle it.

Three-Speed Sliding Gear Transmission

All high priced cars have a sliding gear transmission. It is costly to make, but it is the best. If the motor has the power, sliding gears will pull the car out of any mud or sand. The Maxwell has a three-speed selective sliding gear transmission because Maxwell engineers do not consider any other type to be worthy of the Maxwell car.

Double-Shell Radiator with Shock Absorbing Device

The Maxwell radiator is of handsome design, gracefully curved, and it is built to be trouble proof. It is the expensive double shell type and has ample cooling capacity. The radiator is mounted to the frame by means of a shock absorbing device on each side, which relieves the radiator of all twists and distortions of the frame, caused by roughness of the road. The shock absorbing device also minimizes the possibility of radiator leaks.

The Roomy Full 5-Passenger Body Adjustable Front Seat

The 1915 Maxwell has a full grown 5-passenger body. The front seat is adjustable, you can move it three inches forward or backward. This makes the car really comfortable for the driver. No cramped legs for tall people or uncomfortable reaching for short people. Most drivers' seats are made to fit anyone—so fit no one.

Low "Up-keep" Carburetor

The carburetor used on the Maxwell was especially designed for it after long and severe tests under every conceivable condition. Economy tours conducted by hundreds of dealers and owners in different sections of the country have proved its efficiency. Its quick response to throttle and its extremely low consumption of gasoline. It has been termed the "low up-keep" carburetor.

Irreversible Steering Gear

The greatest margin of safety has been provided in the steering gear of the 1915 Maxwell. The Maxwell irreversible steering mechanism is of the expensive worm-and-gear type and its superiority over every other type lies in its many adjustments. At no time is more than a fourth of the bearing surface of the gear which operates the worm in use. When needed, a new bearing surface may be had by adjusting the gear a quarter of a turn. In short, the Maxwell steering gear has four times the adjustment of any other kind.

Heavy Car Comfort

What surprises most people is the smooth, buoyant riding qualities of the Maxwell. The spring suspension of the 1915 Maxwell is the same costly combination of long semi-elliptical front springs and the three-quarter elliptical rear springs that is used on most heavy weight, high priced cars. The Maxwell offers you every essential of the highest priced machines at a fifth of their cost.

One Size of Tire—Anti-Skids on Rear

The Maxwell car is one of the easiest cars in the world on tires. Maxwell owners carry but one spare tire and but one size of spare tubes. Economical 30 inch x 8 1/2 inch tires are used all around. A famous make of anti-skid tires are supplied on rear wheels.

A Dependable Electric Starter

For $55 extra, you can have your Maxwell delivered equipped with the famous Simms-Huff electric starter. This starter is efficient, trouble proof and easily operated. And the Maxwell is completely equipped with the clear vision, ventilating windshield at the front to the spare tire carrier at the rear.

He stopped entirely. It was as though his own thoughts had engulfed his knowledge of her existence. She drew her hands away, and he made no effort to retain them. "Colonel Destinn," she said gently, "I think you must be mad. Even if the dreadful things you have said were true, why should you say them to me? I gave you my friendship because you seemed to need it—a little, as you say, because I myself was lonely and unhappy. But does that merit so much brutality in return?" "Forgive me, Madame. I am a ruffian. I have forgotten the language. See, I am pleading with you for my life, my sanity. A soul in hell—a soul that you could save cries out to you as to the last hope of its salvation. Are you, a woman and have not the courage to hold out a hand from your own grief to a deeper grief, a deeper despair? Will you turn away from me, Sylvia?"

"Colonel Destinn, we shall neither of us find peace in evil," she said. "You have done wrong—you have thrown a shadow on a friendship that I treasured. Whatever we have to bear we must bear bravely and with honor." "What do I ask of you?" He took her hands between his own and held them caressingly. "Only what you say you have given me—friendship, but friendship freed from false convention and hypocrisy; friendship that dare be itself and its own law. I need you. A man's fate lies in your hands."

He broke off, and she too was silent. In his silence there was covered irony, in hers fear. Her eyes no longer met his. She was gazing fixedly across the plateau to where a dark stream flowed out from between the banks of olive and came on swiftly, its surface, caught by the evening sun, glittering in long lines of silver.

"Look," she said under her breath. He glanced over his shoulder. A harsh bugle note rang through the peaceful evening stillness, and as though the sound had held enchantment the stream recoiled, rolled back on itself in waves of light, and then amid muffled thunder came to rest.

Colonel Destinn nodded. "It is their last camp-out before we go south," he said. "We are going south. Did you know that?"

"No," she said in that same low tone.

"There is the road to be completed—my road. Until you came it was my life—the thing I deeded my brain with—a kind of narcotic. It is the finest military road in Algiers, and in three months it will be finished." He looked her deep into the eyes. "There are limits to human patience. I had not meant to outlive my ambition. It was the term I had set myself. Shall I come back, Sylvia?"

She made no answer. She seemed only in part to understand him. But instinctively she recognized that the pleasant intermezzo of romance which she had played to her own boredom had ended abruptly, leaving her at the mercy of an incalculable force. This man, as he had said, held the reins.

Colonel Destinn laid his hands on her shoulders. "Poor child," he said almost pityingly. "You can not choose the straight path even to the devil. Who am I to blame? Come, I will make an end for you. You need not choose; leave it to destiny—to me. There is only one thing I ask. Before I go south I must say goodbye to you. You will come? It is the only answer I shall need."

A Jewish woman laden with flowers came round the corner of the mosque, singing a monotonous Arab song. Colonel Destinn bowed.

"Au revoir, Madame Arnaud." She turned from him with a little strained smile about her white lips. "Au revoir, Colonel Destinn."

The flower-seller came up to her, offering her a sprig of jasmine, and she accepted and paid for with a mechanical self-possession. Convention had lent her the strength to appear indifferent. Yet her hand trembled. The woman looked up into her face with a hold smile.

"Let Madame keep the flower ever with her," she said. "It carries a blessing to a pure heart."

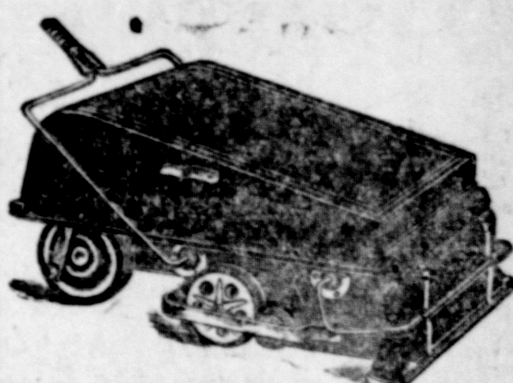

Sylvia Arnaud nodded and passed on.

Colonel Destinn had not witnessed the short scene. From the main body of troops on the far side of the plateau a squad of twenty men had been ordered out, and were now racing toward him at the double. He watched them critically and without any trace of recent emotion. In spite of the evening hour the heat on the open stretch of clay soil was still suffocating, yet they carried their full field equipment, rifle and haversack, and the speed of their advance never slackened. It was as though the fear of death barked at their heels. With in a dozen yards of the silent observer they swerved round to skirt the whole plateau back to their starting points. Their bloodshot eyes were raised for an instant, instinctively measuring the distance, and their labored, tortured breathing sounded like the jerky coughing groans of a single man. A perspiring cursing sergeant kept them within shouting distance.

"Faster—keep up there! Do you think this is a Sunday promenade, you laggards?"

They responded desperately, like animals under the lash. But the foremost man stumbled. He recovered and staggered on for a few yards—then fell. He did not move again. The man immediately behind him passed on one side with the callous, indifference of stupor. The second hesitated, then dropped to his knees beside the prostrate motionless body, and in feverish haste began to loosen the straps of the haversack. But he seemed curiously helpless, almost incapable. His fingers fumbled clumsily, and with a groan of pain and wrath he drew himself up, as though trying to clear his sight from a blinding rush of blood, and turned about. Colonel Destinn saw his face. For a brief moment their eyes met—blankly, and yet in recognition of underlying conflict—then the legionary rolled back over the body of his comrade.

Colonel Destinn turned away. With the same unshaken indifference he remounted and walked his horse past the mosque into the cool shaded avenues of Sidi-bel-Abbes. A crowd of Arab children clustered round him, laughing and holding up their small brown hands in eager appeal. He tossed them the contents of his pockets, and smiled faintly in answer to their shrill exclamations. It was the first time that the hard month had relaxed, but the change was superficial—no more than a flash of sunlight on the iron mask.

Half an hour later he reached the gates of the barracks. An adjutant who had lain in wait for him advanced to meet him, saluting deferentially.

"This letter came for you five minutes ago, my Colonel. An Arab brought it with the message that it was urgent. His master awaited an immediate reply."

Destinn glanced at the writing, then dismounted and broke the seal. The enclosed sheet of note-paper was covered only on one side, yet five minutes passed before he moved. His hand went out gropingly to the pommel of his saddle.

"You say—this came five minutes ago?"

"Yes."

Destinn appeared to reread the letter. The silence became oppressive, interminable.

"Go to the Hotel du—," he said at last quietly and tonelessly. "Ask for a Mr. Stephen Lowe. Tell him, with Colonel Destinn's compliments, there is no answer."

"Yes, my Colonel."

The young officer saluted and turned away.

But Colonel Destinn did not move. The hand which held the letter had dropped to his side, and he was staring in front of him with haggard eyes of introspection. The mask had been partly lifted. Yet what lay behind was indecipherable.

AMERICA UNITED IN CASE OF WAR SAYS PRESIDENT

ship comes. The test of friendship is not now sympathy with one side or the other, but getting ready to help both sides when the struggle is over.

"The basis of neutrality, gentlemen, is not indifference. It is not self-interest. The basis of neutrality is sympathy for mankind. It is fairness; it is good will at bottom. It is impartiality of spirit and of judgment. I wish that all of our fellow citizens could realize that. There is in some quarters a disposition to create distemper in this body politic."

"Men are even uttering slanders against the United States as if to excite her. Men are saying that if we should go to war upon either side, there would be a divided America—an America divided into two camps. America is not all of it vocal just now. It is vocal in spots. But I for one have a complete and abiding faith in that great silent body of Americans who are not standing up and shouting and expressing their opinions just now, but are waiting to find out and support the duty of America. I am just as sure of their solidarity and of their loyalty and of their unanimity, if we act justly, as I am that the history of this country has at every crisis and turning point illustrated this great lesson."

"We are the mediating nation of the world. I do not mean that we undertake not to mind our own business and to mediate where other people are quarreling. I mean the world in a broader sense. We are compounded of the nations of the world. We mediate their blood; we mediate their tradition; we mediate their sentiments; their tastes; their passions; we are ourselves compounded of those things. We are, therefore, able to understand all nations; we are able to understand them in the compound, not separately, as partisans, but unitedly, as knowing and comprehending and embodying them all. It is in that sense that I mean that America is the mediating nation. The opinion of America, the action of America, is ready to turn and free to turn in any direction."

No Hampering Ambition
"Did you ever reflect upon how almost all other nations, almost every other nation, has through all centuries been headed in one direction? This is not true of the United States. The United States has no racial momentum. It has no history back of it which makes it run all of its energies and all of its ambitions in one particular direction; and America is particularly free in this, that she has no hampering ambition as a world power. If we have been obliged by circumstances, or have considered ourselves obliged by circumstances in the past to take territory which we otherwise would not have thought of taking, I believe I am right in saying that we have considered our duty to administer that territory, not for ourselves, but for the people living in it and to put this burden upon ourselves not to think that this thing is ours for our use, but to regard ourselves as trustees of the great business for those to whom it does really belong, trustees, ready to hand over the trust at any time when the business seems to make that possible and feasible. That is what I mean by saying we have no hampering ambitions. We do not want anything that does not belong to us. Isn't a nation in that position free to serve other nations, and isn't a nation like that ready to form some part in the opinion of the world?"

Not Avoiding Trouble
"My interest in the neutrality of the United States is not the petty desire to keep out of trouble. To judge by my experience, I have never been able to keep out of trouble. I have never looked for it, but I have always found it. I do not want to walk around trouble. If any man wants a scrap that is an interesting scrap and worth while, I am his man. I want him that he is not going to draw me into the scrap for his advertisement, but if he is looking for trouble, that is the trouble of men in general, and I can help a little, why then, I am in for it."

"But I am interested in neutrality because that is something so much greater to do than fight, because there is something, there is a distinction waiting for this nation that no nation has ever yet got. That is the distinction of absolute self-control and self-mastery. Whom do you admire most among your friends? The irritable man? The man out of whom you can get a 'rise' without trying? The man who will fight at the drop of the hat whether he knows what the hat is dropped for or not? Don't you admire and don't you fear if you have to contend with him, the self-mastered man who watches you with calm eyes and comes in only when you have carried the thing so far that you must be disposed of? That is the man you respect. That is the man who you know has at bottom a much more fundamental and terrible courage than the irritable fighting man."

False News Mischievous
"Now, I covet for America this splendid courage of reserved moral force, and I wanted to point out to you gentlemen simply this: There is news and news. There is what is called news from Turtle Bay, that turns out to be falsehood, at any rate, in what it is said to signify and which, if you could get the nation to believe it true, might disturb our equilibrium and our self-possession. We ought not to deal in any stuff of that kind. We ought not to permit things of that sort to use up the electrical energy of the wires, because its energy is malign, its energy is not of the truth, its energy is of mischief."

"It is possible to sift truth. I have known some things to go out on the wires as true when there was only one man or one group of men who could have told the originator of the report whether it was true or not—and they were not asked whether it was true or not, for fear it might not be true. That sort of report ought not to go out over the wires. There is generally if not always somebody who knows whether that thing is so or not and in these days above all other days we ought to take particular plans to resort to the one small group of men, or to the one man, if there be but one, who knows whether these things are true or not."

Urges Reliable Information
"The world ought to know the truth, but the world ought not at this period of unstable equilibrium to be disturbed by rumors, ought not to be disturbed by imaginative combinations of circumstances, or, rather, by circumstances stated in common, which do not belong in common. For we are holding—not I, but you and gentlemen engaged like you—the balances in your hands. This unstable equilibrium rests upon scales that are in your hands. For the food of opinion, as I began saying, is the news of the day. I have known many a man to go off at a tangent on information that was not reliable. Indeed, that describes a majority of them. The world is held stable by the man who waits for the new day to find out whether the report was true or not."

"We cannot afford, therefore, to let the rumors of irresponsible persons and origin to get into the atmosphere of the United States. We are trustees, for what I venture to say is the greatest heritage that any nation ever had—the love of justice and righteousness and human liberty. For, fundamentally, those are the things to which America is addicted, and to which she is devoted. There are groups of selfish men in the United States, there are coteries where sinister things are purposed, but the great heart of the American people is just as sound and true as it ever was. And it is a single heart; it is the heart of America. It is not a heart made up of sections collected out of other countries."

Thinks With "Man at Home"
"So that is what I try to remind myself of every day when I am almost overcome by perplexities. What I try to remember is what the people at home are thinking about. I try to put myself in the place of the man who does not know all the things that I know, and ask myself what he would like the policy of this country to be—not the talkative man, not the partisan man, not the man who remembers first that he is a republican or a democrat or that his parents were German or English, but who remembers first that the

MILL TAX REPEAL IS ADVANCED

Assembly Engrosses Bill
Cutting Off University
Levy Which Had Been
Slated for Death

MADISON, Wis., April 21.—The constitutional amendment granting home rule to cities held the center of the stage in the senate this morning, being finally ordered engrossed by a vote of 22 to 8.

Senator Bray sought to amend the resolution, which is a duplicate of the one voted on at the last general election, by providing that the legislature may grant home rule, and later revoke it by a two-thirds vote of the legislature. Senator Arnold, socialist, the author of the original resolution, attacked this amendment as affording no relief. The amendment was finally rejected.

Senator Bosshard said that the resolution should be supported, if for no other reason than that it would relieve the legislature of a large amount of work. He recalled the fact that over four hundred bills at the last session were purely local matters, that ought to have been settled by local authorities.

Deny Tuition Inquiry
The Barwig resolution calling for a legislative investigation of non-resident tuition fees at the University of Wisconsin was indefinitely postponed by a vote of 16 to 11.

The Hanson bill, abolishing the election pamphlet, went over until April 28.

The semi-monthly wage payment bill was placed on final passage by a vote of 19 to 9.

Mill Tax Repeal Engrossed
The Ellingson bill repealing the university mill tax was ordered to engrossment today in the assembly by a vote of 62 to 31. The bill had been recommended out of committee for indefinite postponement.

The debate was opened by Assemblyman O'Brien, who argued that the abolishment of the three-eighths mill tax and the future maintenance of the university by direct appropriation would put the institution on a sound financial basis and give the people of the state a better knowledge of the amount of money that the university would get each year. He said that the mill tax gave the university too much leeway. In this he was supported by Assemblyman Ellingson and Crosby.

Assemblyman Mortensen answered this argument by saying that the statutes gave to a penny the amount that the university should receive yearly and that the people could get all the information that they wanted on that score. He was of the opinion that if the legislature were to make all appropriations the university could never pursue an even plan of action or progress for one legislature would cut the appropriation below the necessary amount and the next double the appropriation. He said that since 1912 the amount received by the university from the mill tax had increased five per cent while the attendance had increased 11 per cent. Assemblymen Vint and Nordman spoke against the bill.

Debate on Anti-Tipping Bill
The anti-tipping bill was also the subject of a spirited brush in the house. The bill provides that it shall be an offense punishable by imprisonment or fine to buy liquor for another for the purpose of "treating."

Assemblyman Nordman said that three-fourths of the drunkards today were made by the treating process. Assemblyman Hambrach debated the constitutionality of such a law, but said that the moral effect of the measure would be good.

Assemblyman Donnelly emphatically asserted that he was opposed to such "fool legislation." He said that it was like the anti-tipping bill and that both would be dead letters on the statute books.

Dr. Mille of Wisconsin University Proposes Drastic Change in American Music-teaching Methods

WOULD HAVE DEFINITE COURSES

Complete System Working Toward Musical Degrees Is Advocated Before State Teachers

A plea for a realignment of the American attitude toward music which would result in its inclusion as a major study in school curricula, with definite standards for testing accomplishment, was voiced by Dr. Charles H. Mills of the University of Wisconsin, in his talk to the state music teachers' convention at the normal school yesterday.

"The scientific and professional associations have definite requirements for membership, with the result that they are wielding enormous power and influence throughout the country," Dr. Mills said. "Education is the basic principle; a complete logical system of education, and it is when we compare the musician with other professionals that we are forced—however reluctantly—to admit that the musician is at a disadvantage."

Grade School Music Teaching Hit
Grade school musical study, with the teaching in the hands of teachers who for the most part are unqualified for the task, came in for the disapproval of Dr. Mills. In the high schools, he said, music study wins little or no credit toward graduation and is therefore frequently neglected by students. This general attitude, he said, has resulted in American music making slower progress than other professions.

Dr. Miller was also not slow to attack incompetence among professional music teachers. Superficial knowledge, he said, was the rule rather than the exception. He summed up the chief faults with the present system of musical education as follows: In the schools, lack of uniformity in courses; lack of credits; an insufficient number of qualified instructors. With the teachers, he said the faults were a mediocre and often low standard of general education, the absence of recognized standards in every branch taught, and the absence of any means of judging qualifications, i. e., "nothing which stamps a man in the same way as A. B., LL. B., etc. does in other lines."

Discussing the remedy for these conditions, Dr. Mills said:

Authorities to Plan Courses
"Acknowledged authorities must be found in each field who are willing to discuss in an impartial way what the indispensable requisites are in each grade from the child to the thoroughly equipped teacher and performer. A genuine attempt must be made to form, as far as possible, a unanimous opinion in every detail, as a consensus of opinion is necessary to uniformity of action, and standardization rests on cheerful voluntary unanimity."

"This body should draw up definite curricula for every grade and in every field. This association could then bring every possible influence to bear on school authorities to see that music was put on the same footing in the schools as are all other subjects, and that none but fully qualified instructors were employed. We should then, by laying the foundation of true musicianship, be educating the public that would be satisfied with nothing but the best. We should see its influence on the culture of the people, and those intending to make music their profession would have a firm foundation laid, and their general and musical education could go on simultaneously."

State Examination Proposed
For testing the fitness of musical students who had completed the course he proposed, Dr. Mills urged some system of state examination—he suggested a state commission—with which would rest the power of granting the final degree certifying proficiency.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea
and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, and abundant.

BILL TO ABOLISH BOXING KILLED IN SENATE COMMITTEE

Scott's Bill Receives Rude Treatment Before Senate Committee on State Affairs

MADISON, Wis., April 21.—Unless something entirely unforeseen occurs, Wisconsin will continue under the present boxing law. Senator Scott's bill to abolish the boxing commission met with sudden death before the senate committee on state affairs today.

In explaining his bill Senator Scott justified it on moral grounds, and said it was a disgrace to the state of Wisconsin to legalize ring fighting. Instead of keeping it clean, he said, the sport had gradually drifted the other way. He said he offered the bill on request. He said it was wrong in principle and gave one more betting chance for sports.

Mr. Hedding answered that people nowadays bet on almost anything—even on the chance that the next car to turn the corner is a Ford. On the brutality question, he said there have been no injuries from upwards of 700 contests held under the law, while there have been 250 deaths in football games and 100 in baseball throughout the country in the same period. There are no shouts of "kill the umpire" or throwing of pop bottles, few hard blows are struck and blood is uncommon in real boxing bouts. Such fights occur when young boys meet, he said, and he said the Milwaukee Athletic club allows these. James T. Drought took exception to the statement.

Senator Cunningham, former mayor of Beloit, said the law had improved conditions in his city. Formerly, he said, fights took place in barns all over the city.

Culbertson Nemesis

Senator Culbertson was Mr. Hedding's Nemesis on this bill. He wanted to know the difference between boxing and prizefighting, and between amateur and professional fighting; and asked about boxers drawing blood. Hedding said fights by untrained boys should be prohibited, that well trained men seldom get hurt, and that amateur boxing is just like amateur baseball or football. He said that that amateurs may box in Y. M. C. A.'s, further opposition to the commission law has not come from that source.

Walter H. Liginger, chairman of the state athletic commission, said there is no prize fighting in this state.

With a will there's a way and also, usually, something of a temper.

WOLGAST PROMOTES GIBBONS PACKEY GO FOR SYNDICATE

CHICAGO, April 21.—Ad Wolgast, one time king of the lightweights, has turned promoter. Wolgast was in town today and announced he was representing a Wisconsin syndicate which has $25,000 for Mike Gibbons and Packey McFarland, the minute they attached their monickers to a set of articles. Who is back of the syndicate, Ad refused to say.

Twenty-five thousand will be paid for the bout itself and a $500 bonus will be paid each man the minute he signs, said Ad.

All the Doctor's Fault.

Doctor—"You have nervous dyspepsia, same as Brown had. His was caused by worrying over his butcher's bill. I directed him to stop worrying." Stranger—"Yes, and now he's cured, and I've got it. I'm his butcher."

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results. For sale by Charles Bay-schlag, Druggist, 503 Main street.

WELSH WINS EASY FIGHT FROM 'RED' CORBETT WATSON

Champ Is Easily the Victor in Fight Last Night at Hudson; Fulton Scores

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 21.—"Red" Corbett Watson of California was no match for Lightweight Champion Freddie Welsh in their ten round fight at Hudson, Wis., last night. Welsh had a clean margin in five of the rounds, Watson a shade in two and the other three were even. Watson's eyes were almost closed during the encounter.

Fred Fulton, Minneapolis heavyweight, put Stanley Klosky of Platteville, Wis., to sleep in the first round of the semi-final. Young Groves of Stillwater knocked out Young Jackson of St. Paul in the fifth round in the second preliminary and the first preliminary between Young Zimmer of St. Paul and Harry Taylor of Minneapolis was stopped at the end of the second round to save Taylor further punishment.

WILLARD VISITS IN CHICAGO TODAY

CHICAGO, April 21.—Chicago for the first time today got a glimpse of the new white champion—Jess Willard. Accompanied by Tom Jones and three sparring partners, the big Kansan dropped off a train here and laid over two hours before proceeding to Kansas City. Some of the veterans in Chicago's ringdom said Jess looked just the same as he did when he was grabbing off the free lunch around these parts.

LANGFORD M'VEY BOUT CALLED OFF

NEW YORK, April 21.—The Sam Langford-Sam McVey bout which was to have been held here tonight has been called off. Langford's poor showing at Montreal a few nights ago against Porky Flynn is the cause.

There's no use saving trouble when it's so easily borrowed.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD BY HAL SHERIDAN (Written for the United Press.)

Being able to swat with any degree of regularity, (he got only two hits) Tyrus Cobb kidded the Sox into making wild heaves and romped around the bases with fervent abandon. Sox lost fifth straight.

Lee Magee is getting jealous of Heinie Zimm. The "boy manager" has been chased twice within the last week now for nastiness with the ump.

For two years Rube Schauer of the Giants has been on the bench, drawing his pay check. Yesterday he started his first major league game and was handed a neat lacing by the Phillies.

Red Smith showed some of the stuff he was expected to display in the late lamented world's series. His double in the tenth with three on gave the Braves a 4-3 victory over the luckless Dodgers.

Rube Benton, the demon motorcyclist, held the Cards to two swats, both garnered by Miller Huggins, while his mates were pounding Ne-haus.

Yesterday was bonanza day for home run clouters. Here's the record: Johnston, Pirates, off Cheney, Cubs.

Fisher, Cubs, off McQuillen, Pirates.

Beck, Whales, off Groom, Sloops.

Fischer, Whales, off Groom, Sloops.

Easterly, Kaw-Feds, off Camnitz, Pitt-Feds.

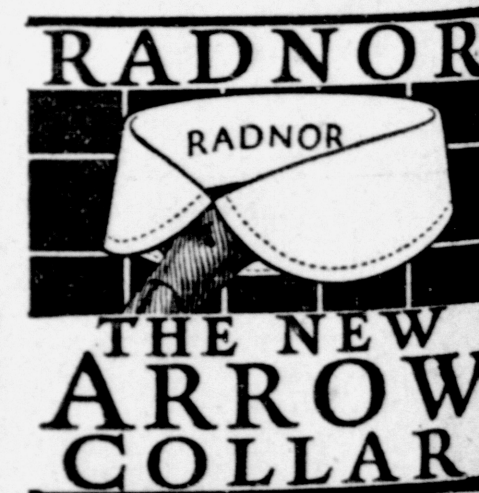

Becker, Phillies, off Schauer, Giants.

Maisel, Yankees, off Shawkey, Athletics.

Oldring, Athletics, off Warhop, Yanks.

RITCHIE TRAINS LEONARD

NEW YORK, April 21.—Willie Ritchie, former world's champion lightweight, has consented to "prep" Benny Leonard, New York light weight, for his bout here April 29, with Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion. Ritchie will box with Leonard daily.
